

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A test system includes a signal source coupled to one or more capture/source channels. The signal source provides a cancellation signal to the one or more channels, which may be utilized by a channel to reduce a portion of the received signal. The resulting signal is then amplified so that any errors on the signal are readily detected by the system.

5